Alameda Mooring and Anchorage Rules:

Vessels may berth in the marina only with the permission of the Harbormaster. The Harbormaster has the right to refuse the application for use of the marina and/or cancel a berthing permit at any time.

Vessels entering or mooring in the marina without permission will be considered trespassing and will be subject to civil and criminal penalties. Vessels in distress must contact the harbormaster's office immediately upon arrival. There is no temporary docking available at Alameda Marina. Customers of Marina businesses that are not marina tenants are not allowed to park boats in the marina while they do business on site.

All vessels mooring in the marina without a marina wharfage contract are subject to the California Boater's Lien Law. Documented vessels will be subject to arrest by Federal Marshall. Unauthorized boats will be charged the transient rate of $20.00 per day, payable in cash. Failure to make payment will result in impound and application for permission to perform a lien sale with the California State DMV. Acceptance of payment does not represent permission to moor.

We expect all boaters to use Alameda Marina facilities in a safe and responsible manner. We encourage all boaters to wear life-jackets, keep ground tackle available on their vessels, and maintain a lookout when operating. We encourage all boaters to take a boating safety class. For more information, please contact the harbormaster's office.
